Nuno's is the proud "home" of legendary pianist Pinetop Perkins, and don't be surprised if Hubert Sumlin or Les Dudek are playing up on stage. A wealth of modules are available, and although most are older and in the public domain, the resources are still highly useful. In contrast to the social and political concerns visible in the works of several modernista authors, Nervo preferred to keep his concerns turned inward toward the mysterious questions of life and death, religion and spirituality.
